

Volunteering

If you have time to spare, volunteering for IDE-UK can be a rewarding experience. At present our network of volunteers is based in London but we would welcome volunteers from other parts of the UK.

Ways in which volunteers can help include:

- Becoming an advocate for IDE and introducing us to your friends
- Offering expertise and advice
- Organising a fundraising event
- Taking part in a sponsored challenge or event
- Starting up a local volunteer group
- Administration, fundraising and communications support

Volunteers are a valuable resource and ensure that we keep our staff costs, and therefore overheads, to a minimum.

Becoming a donor

Our donors provide us with an invaluable source of income to ensure we are able to continue our vital work with poor farmers in Africa and Asia. If you would like to consider making a regular donation to IDE-UK, we will provide you with updates on our projects so that you will know how your money is being spent. To find out more about how to set up a standing order contact us using the details below. You can also donate using the form overleaf.

Corporate support

IDE-UK has an affinity with the corporate world as an organisation that works to create enterprise in developing countries in Africa and Asia. We believe that by setting up private sector supply chains to support the manufacture and distribution of simple water technologies to poor farmers, we are giving them the opportunity to invest in enterprises that have a proven impact on poverty. IDE-UK has a tangible goal with measurable results. By supporting IDE-UK companies can be sure that, as with any investment, they will be regularly updated about our work so that they can see for themselves the impact of their support.

Some ways in which your company can help:

- Staff fundraising through pay-roll giving or fundraising events
- Sponsorship of IDE-UK events
- Staff volunteering or taking part in sponsored challenges
- Cause related marketing initiatives
- Gifts in kind (such as office space, design, printing, meeting venues & other services)

IDE-UK will ensure that any corporate partnership is managed efficiently and effectively from conception through to meeting its final goal.
